March-April 2020

Due to the coronavirus epidemic, and in an effort to keep us all safe, Hands of Hope Pantry will remain open but we will be distributing food in pre-packaged allotments.

We understand that some Churches have suspended Services based on social distancing rules for public health safety and that congregants may no longer be able to bring donated food to Church for us. However, if your Congregation would like to continue helping our neighbors who depend on the Pantry, we have some ideas:

- Food Cards in any amount. If necessary, as time goes on, and no one can be here to distribute food, the cards can be mailed to our clients.
- A monetary donation for us to purchase food through the Greater Boston Food Bank which is the most affordable way for us to purchase in bulk including hard to find items such as soap, toilet paper and cleaning products. Please make any donation to Hands of Hope Outreach.
- Your prayers for the needy who will experience some collapse of their current situation making this difficult time more of a severe hardship than an inconvenience.

As always, we thank you for your faithful support. Blessings to you all from Cathy Driscoll and all helping and participating at Hands of Hope Food Pantry.
